Terracina

Ulysses
Coast

Terracina is exactly the best place to have a vacation, if you want to mix beach relaxation with visiting the sights. It has all you need: seaside with beautiful spacious beaches, ancient temples and historical city center with shops, restaurant and night life.

Halfway between Rome and Naples, in the province of Latina, where history looks out into the sea, lays one of the historical-artistic pearls of Lazio – Terracina. It was an important port on the Roman Appian Way, and the site of a major temple to Jupiter. Nowadays the modern town spreads out on the plain below the hills, along a wide sandy beach which attracts many summer visitors.

Terracina is the biggest resort city on Ulysses Riviera. The heart of historical Terracina is Piazza del Municipio, a pretty square containing paving stones from the Roman Forum, a crumbling archway, the town cathedral, the headquarters of the town council and the archaeological museum. The Cathedral was built over a Roman temple to Augustus, and is an attractive building composed of a mixture of styles.

Its historic centre, the beating heart of the town, is a magical place where Roman, Medieval, and Modern History still treasure their many testimonies. Among others, there is the ancient Via Appia, which crosses these fascinating monuments enclosed in the old town centre, show all the beauty they once held: Forum Square with its original cobbles, the Roman Theatre, the Capitolium, San Cesareo's Cathedral, built on the ruins of a Roman temple, the Frangipane Castle, Palazzo Braschi, and so much more. Even today, these fascinating monuments enclosed in the old town centre show all the beauty they once held.

Terracina is famous not only for its beautiful scenery, golden sands, blue skies and majestic cliffs. This town is unique monuments of Antiquity with the temple of Jupiter, built by mysterious Etruscans in the IV. BC on top of the cliff (277 m), the mosaic in the Cathedral, Appian Way with the remnants of walls, gates of Naples (southern entrance to the city), built by the Emperor Trojan. Along the Gulf stretches elegant embankment, on the coast there are discos, bars, restaurants with excellent cuisine, night clubs, shops. The air is salubrious, the content of iodine takes 2nd place in the world after Acapulco.

Ferries depart from the port for the Pontine Islands. A boat-lined canal leads to the harbour from the bus station area, passing the fish-hall where crates are loaded with fresh fish.

Sabaudia

Ulysses
Coast

The post office building is interesting - completely covered with blue mosaic (Savoy color). The emperor Domitian built a luxurious villa near these places (81-96 AD).

Inside the villa you can define a small theater and a swimming pool. During the excavations were found: a statue of Apollo, stored in a museum in Germany, and a statue of Satire with an inverted flute, stored in the Vatican Museums. To protect the Papal State, at the request of Pope Paolo III, the Paola Tower was built 26 meters from Cape Circeo.

Today Sabaudia is vacation place of the Italian elite. Along the sea stretched the villas of actors, writers, politicians, businessmen.

Sabaudia is a coastal town in the province of Latina, Lazio, central Italy. This is perhaps the only city on the coast that does not have a century-long history. Founded on August 5, 1933, on a meliorated territory and named after the ruling dynasty of Savoy, Sabaudia is a model of rational architecture. The city was built in 253 days according to Mussolini's plan, and strikes with the rigor and rationality of its style.

The main attractions are: The Commune Square with a 46-meter-high tower at the base of which houses the first stone of Sabaudia with parchment and several coins of the Italian kingdom, the building of the Municipality; the former house of fascism, the church of Annunziata with its mosaics, the square of Santa Barbara with magnificent porticoes.

San Felice Circeo

Ulysses
Coast

It is a small, but absolutely charming town by the beach with plenty of restaurants to choose from. These places were glorified by the great Homer, who talked about how Ulysses moored to these shores, lured by the beautiful Circe, and lived with her here years of love. The area has been inhabited since ancient times. This is evidenced by the numerous exhibits collected in the Museum of Homo Sapiens et Habitat, and the sea caves, where the skull of a Neanderthal man who lived 50,000 years ago, the bones of hyenas, tigers, horses, elephants and rhinos (Guattari grotto), the remains of prehistoric people (grottoes delle Capre, Fossellone, Breuil).

The age of the city is witnessed by the acropolis and the cyclopean walls of Circe, dating back to the VI-th-IVth centuries BC. San Felice Circeo is a magnificent synthesis of the wonders of nature. Crowned by a panorama of Mount Monte Circeo, rising to 542 m above sea level. At the foot of the mountain lies the National Park, where, during migration, more than 200 species of migratory birds stop to rest.

The small, characteristic historical center, centered around the Tower dei Templari and the Baron's courtyard, overlooking Lantsuisi Square, in summertime becomes the center of nightlife, with bars, restaurants, entertainment venues, boutiques and craft shops; meeting point for VIP performance and politics.

Sperlonga

Ulysses
Coast

This is a “White City” with narrow and winding streets, panoramic sites, and a unique coastline with caves, grottoes and sandy beaches. One of the smallest coastal towns with an indigenous population of 3,000, which increases to 40,000 during summer high season period. The emperor Tiberius built here his suburban villa near a huge grotto, where he fled from the heat of August. The remains of the villa can be seen even today.

The discovery of the villa was due to the mention of it in ancient manuscripts: the emperor Tiberius was saved from a collapse in the Seyanom grotto during a feast with his retinue in the villa. Now the National Archaeological Museum is located here.

Its name Sperlonga inherited from numerous grottoes (“sperluncae” in Latin) and uneven coastlines. After the fall of the Roman Empire, Sperlonga was settled by local peoples.

To protect themselves from the constant raids of pirates, observation towers were erected here. The Trulya Tower was built at the very end of the cape in 1532, but two years later it was destroyed by the raid of the pirate Cairo-al-Din, better known as Red Beard. There is a memory of these events in the name of the Corsair Valley at the grotto. The present development of the city began with the construction in 1957 of the road connecting Terracina with Gaeta.

Gaeta

Ulysses
Coast

This picturesque town, formerly a former military fort, today has become a typical seaside resort. It is here, according to Virgil, the ship Aeneas, who fled from Troy, moored. During the journey, died his beloved nurse, Kaeta, and was buried in this land. The Middle Age in Gaeta is reminded by the remains of ancient walls and numerous churches. Of great interest is the Annunziata Church, built on donations in 1321, and known for its chapel, which bears the name of the “Golden grotto”.

In Gaeta on Mount Orlando there is one of the most visited places in Italy - the split mountain (“Montagna Spaccata”).

According to the Gospel, when they crucified Jesus Christ, in different parts of the world the earth shook and the mountains split. At the same time Mount Orlando also split. The edges of the split absolutely match.

The via crucis corridor leads to the chapel of St. Philip Neri. This picturesque and cheerful city, known for its ancient military fort, protecting the entrance to the bay, and which is currently a tourist center, where there are conditions for scuba diving.

Formia

Ulysses
Coast

The city, which is located 3km south of Gaeta, is famous for the country residences of the Roman elite. In the very heart of the bay, under the protection of the mountains, where cold winds do not penetrate, Formia appeared. It was no coincidence that, because of its mild climate, beauty and the diversity of the landscape, it became the place of summer residences for many outstanding personalities of different times and peoples.

Cicero also lived here, the grave of which is located not far from the historical center of the city. Above the city at the very peak of the mountain is a sculpture of Christ the Savior (1252 m above sea level), cast from iron and weighing 21 quintals.

It took 40 days to set it at this height. Formia is a very ancient city, which was part of the Latin Lega and gained partial independence in 338 BC. Formia cherishes evidence of its history: the medieval quarter of Castellone, the ancient towers of S. Erasmus and the Chapel, the quarter of the sailors Mola with a huge tower, and the residence of the King of Naples Ferdinand II, where the General Staff of the Liberation Army was located in 1860-1861. In Formia, a capitulation was signed, ending the period of the Neapolitan kingdom.

Baia Domizia

Baia Domizia is a seaside resort in the Region of Campania, Italy, at the border with Latium, a natural border marked by the Garigliano River.

The name of the resort comes from its geographical position, since the village was founded mid-way along the bay of Gaeta, along the Domitian coast, which extends from Pozzuoli to Baia, following the modern Via Domiziana. The beach was created by the now extinct Volcano of Roccamonfina.

There is a large pine grove on the coast, many junipers, white sand dunes and lush green vegetation. Climate here is mild, healthy, Mediterranean. Here is sunny, clean, saturated air, azure clear water, clean sand, it rarely rains. Depth grows smoothly, waves and wind are absent. The beach is suitable for families with children, senior citizens and families who want to relax from the atmosphere of the busy city.

The infrastructure is well developed - there are many hotels on the coast with rooms of different levels of comfort. There are paid and free areas on the beach. For the convenience of guests, there are modern showers, toilets and changing rooms installed on the beach. Lunch is available at local cafes and restaurants. The resort is popular among Italians vacationing from Europe. Plenty of room for sports, on the beach you can rent swimming equipment, equipment for diving, fishing, surfing and various water sports. Baia Domizia is a snow-white beach with a well-developed infrastructure for a relaxing and comfortable stay.

Some of Italy's most beautiful places can be easily reached from the Baia Domizia, like Rome, Monte Cassino, Gaeta, Minturno, Ponza, Baia Domizia, Sessa Aurunca, Caserta, Ischia, Naples, Pompei and Vesuvius, Amalfi, Sorrento, Vietri sul Mare and Paestum.

Jesolo Venice

Jesolo

Jesolo is traditionally known as one of the most well equipped beaches of the Veneto region and the whole Adriatic coast with its clean sea and organized beaches.

The sea is a clean and safe environment thanks to the shallow, crystalline waters. Every year Jesolo, famous for its endless beaches, is awarded the Blue Flag (for the cleanest sea) and the Green Flag (as one of the best child-friendly beaches). All resorts are equipped with modern and state-of-the-art facilities, and provide excellent service from expertly qualified staff.

Entertainment already begins by the sea, with beach resorts offering their guests some exclusive attractions, such as the rental of canoes, surfboards and stand-up paddling. On the shoreline, the offer is completed by the possibility of playing the main "sand" sports such as beach volleyball, beach soccer, football, tennis and beach tennis.

Liguria

Liguria

Stretching from France to Tuscany, the Riviera boasts a diverse range of resorts where summer leisure and culinary delights meet medieval history and maritime traditions.

The region is famous for its mild climate, beautiful alpine landscapes, beautiful beaches, cities-treasures and amazing kitchen. This zone is also called Riviera dei Fiori - Coast of Flowers. The region of Liguria is also known as the Italian Riviera and is well known as a major tourist spot with famous resort towns sprinkled among fishing villages and rocky coastline.

Liguria occupies a thin stretch of the coast from Italy's western border with France stretching south and east to the region's border with Tuscany. To the north and east coastal mountains separate Liguria from Piedmonte and Emilia-Romagna. Liguria is separated into two "Rivieras", the Riviera di Ponente to the west and the Riviera di Levante to the east with the Ligurian capital of Genoa separating the two. In the past the Riviera di Ponente was the more famous of the two, populated with resort towns like San Remo, however lately writers, artists, and tourists have discovered the jewels of the Riviera di Levante such as Portofino, Alassio, Sestre Levante and the Cinque Terre.

It is ideal for those who are eternally undecided between a walk on a sandy beach with the scent of the sea in the air or hiking in the mountains and discovering the beauty of the Alps.

Liguria is also famous because it is the only region in the world that features two UNESCO World Heritage sites – the historical city center of Genoa and the famous Cinque Terre towns.

It is a territory of fine cuisine made of simple, genuine products. The pride of Ligurian cuisine is pesto, the traditional sauce most often used in pasta dishes that is famous the world over.

Ligurian gastronomy is also known for the Genovese Focaccia, focaccia made with cheese of Recco and farinata (the oldest of traditional Ligurian dishes, developed during Roman times; it is made of chickpea flour). Liguria is a region of contrasts, it is a region of cultural compromises, where the cultivation of a hostile land has taken over from the practice of fishing.

This territory is most often chosen by the curious traveler, but is also perfect for the family on vacation, the sportsman, and even those looking for relaxing or romantic holidays.

Tuscany

Tuscany

Tuscany is one of the most picturesque regions of Italy. Beautiful beaches and numerous ancient cities, romantic villas and castles, famous wineries and gastronomic delights, boutiques, thermal baths are the sources of this region and make it the most desirable place for travelers to relax.

Tuscany is the cradle of the Renaissance and known all over the world for its immense artistic and cultural heritage. Eight sites are included by UNESCO on the World Heritage list: not only the historic center of art cities such as Florence and Siena, but also the villages of Pienza and San Gimignano, and the city of Montecatini Terme, known for its historic spas and its liberty architecture.

You can breathe culture in every corner of Tuscany, there are unique museums that house invaluable pieces such as the Uffizi Gallery or the Accademia Gallery, where you can admire the majestic David by Michelangelo.

Tuscany today is the leader in Italy for its thermal baths already known from the ancient times and frequented by personalities like Maria Teresa of Austria, Napoleon and his sister Paolina. Thermal baths are also near to golf courses and shopping centres featuring the most prestigious international brands.

Versilia is the area right along the Tuscan coast in the northwestern edge of the province of Lucca.

It is widely known and popular for the fashionable resorts along its coast, with numerous night clubs attracting visitors for its active night life during the summer. The main cities in the Versilia are Viareggio, Forte dei Marmi, Pietrasanta, Camaiore, Massarosa, Seravezza and Stazzema.

Forte dei Marmi is one of the most exclusive and elegant tourist locations in all of Versilia. The city is particularly centered around luxury tourism, making it perfect for high fashion shopping in luxury boutiques and famous for its seaside restaurants and glittering nightlife.

Every year statistics confirm that Tuscany is one of the most loved by foreigners regions of Italy.

Puglia

Puglia

Apulia, also known by its Italian name Puglia is a region of Italy, located in the southern peninsular section of the country, bordering the Adriatic Sea to the east, the Ionian Sea to the southeast and the Strait of Otranto and Gulf of Taranto to the south. Apulia's coastline is longer than that of any other mainland Italian region.

Puglia offers approximately 800 km of coastline of unique natural beauty: its beaches are the ideal retreat for those looking for relaxation and wellness, as well as for all those that desire a bit more of adventure and swim and snorkel through rocky sea bottoms. Puglia is the third Italian region for coastal development after the two Islands of Sicily and Sardinia. The coastline is varied: mostly rocky in the North of the Gargano, becomes low and sandy near Manfredonia and Barletta, the area of Bari is instead characterized by low cliffs alternated to sandy stretches. Puglia, also known as the heel of the Italian boot:

such a splendid region offers charming towns and villages, marvellous architecture, tasty food, plenty of traditions and folklore. Alberobello is a small yet characteristic town located South East of Puglia in the province of Bari, it's one of the most characteristic towns in Italy and is famous for its traditionally built ancient stone houses called trulli. Matera is the home to one of the most famous attractions in Puglia: Sassi di Matera. People of Basilicata region carved these archaeological caves into the rocks for hundreds of years before they became one of Italy's major tourist attractions and settings for some famous movies such as The Passion of the Christ and 007 – No time to die. Polignano a Mare, Monopoli - the pearls on the Adriatic Sea, Ostuni, the white city, Pescopuluse, so-called Maldives of Salento, Gallipoli (the "beautiful city"), the coastline city famous for its port and nightlife) Taranto - the biggest city in Puglia after Bari are just one of the places to visit.

In Puglia, you'll find fully equipped beaches, facilities, and hotels offering every kind of service. If you come by boat, you can cast your anchor at an endless number of docks and berths. In southern Puglia, the most popular beaches are Brindisi, Ostuni, Marinodi Odriano, Otranto, Galliano del Cape, Porto Cesareo, Gallipoli.

Your vacation in Puglia can be combined with treatment on one of the local thermal spas. Most famous Terme Torre Canne (province Brindisi), Margherita di Savoia (province Barletta-Andria-Trani); Santa Cesaria Terme (province of Lecce).

In Puglia, everyone will find something to do. Divers will find many interesting places for dives, lovers of Italian cuisine by local dishes and delicacies will be appreciated, especially mozzarella and burata.

Families with children will be able to spend time in the largest in Italy Zoosafari Safari Park (Fasano, 60 km from Bari) where you can see dozens of species of wild animals or take a ride by mini-train through the monkey village.

Puglia—like many other big and small Italian regions—cannot be condensed into a single trip.

Sardinia

Sardinia

Sardinia, Italian Sardegna, is the second - largest island in the Mediterranean Sea, after Sicily, and one of the 20 regions of Italy (the largest cities are Cagliari, Sassari, Alghero). It is located west of the Italian Peninsula, north of Tunisia and immediately south of the French island of Corsica. It's almost as big as Sicily, and a tiny bit smaller than Israel. Sardinia has one of the highest percentages of people who live to be 100 years old or older. It's one of the few blue zones in the world (a blue zone is an area where there is a high level of longevity). The island's relief is dominated by mountains of granite and schist. The highest point is Mount La Marmora in the Gennargentu massif. The climate is subtropical and Mediterranean. It's a very chilled place with great beaches, stunning scenery and great food and wine. Where the land meets the sea it's rocky, but it does give way to many beautiful white sandy beaches. Other beaches the sand is made up of billions of tiny pieces of quartz, like grains of rice.

In the north of Sardinia, there are interesting cities and towns being Alghero and Castelsardo the most popular ones (visit the Caves of Neptune and the Maddalena Archipelago for some breathtaking scenarios). A boat trip at The "Arcipelago della Maddalena" should be mandatory for everyone! Among the unmissable beaches of southern Sardinia, there are Cala Pira which is a real corner of paradise, Cala Sinzias in Castiadas, the beaches of Villasimius especially suitable for windy days and, in Costa Rei, the beach of Santa Giusta, with the famous Scoglio di Peppino. One of the most beautiful archaeological sites in Sardinia is located in the province of Cagliari, near Capo Pula. The ruins face a lovely gulf, with amazing views over the sea and a super nice beach nearby (Nora/Su Gunventeddu) where you can spend the rest of the day to relax after your visit to the ruins! Sardinia is not just about its beautiful sea, there are towns and villages to see, parks and hiking trails, archaeological remains, villages and castles, culture, gastronomy and ancient testimonies of fascinating civilizations.

Holiday accommodation in Sardinia is available in a wide select. Whether you're looking for leisure and luxury at the island's immaculate beaches or want to enjoy the simple, authentic life in the rural inland - Sardinia has the perfect accommodation that is certain to satisfy all your desires.

The wonderful beaches and convenient climate make Sardinia a paradise for family holidays. A lot of beaches especially on the eastern coast of Sardinia are very well-suited for children, because they are protected from winds and the sea level is rather low. A lot of hotels and resorts specialize in family holidays and offer facilities like children's pool, children's clubs, activities for kids and an attractive excursion program. Diving, snorkeling, fishing, sailing, horse riding and trekking are just few of the activities that are possible on the Mediterranean island.

Sardinia is an ideal place for an unforgettable luxury holiday. The beauty and splendor of Sardinia's marvelous beaches is only rivaled by the elegance and exclusiveness of the finest Five-Star-Hotels. Luxury Villas are a great way of spending your holiday on Sardinia in a private atmosphere without lacking the necessary comfort and convenience.

Sardinia is an amazing travel destination in Italy, perfect to soak up the sun, marvel at nature and enjoy some fancy fun.

Calabria

Calabria

Calabria is a region in the south - western part of Italy, it forms the metaphorical toe of the Italian boot and it's considered the Caribbean of Europe thanks to its pristine beaches, stunning landscape, and rustic charms.

It is bordered by Basilicata to the north, the Gulf of Taranto to the east, the Ionian Sea to the south, the Strait of Messina to the southwest, which separates it from Sicily, and the Tyrrhenian Sea to the west. Each stretch of coastline has different characteristics, making it unique, linked to the hinterland of which it is an expression. From the Tyrrhenian to the Ionian Sea, the "Land between the Two Seas" offers different scenarios, recalling elements of the territory, all waiting to be discovered. Calabria's ancestral soul is its mountains. The last offshoot of the Southern Apennines, a veritable "finis terrae" of the European continent. A mountain that constantly communicates with the sea and is unique in Italy in having three National Parks: Pollino, Sila and Aspromonte, making it the perfect destination for some of the most popular sports of the moment, in addition to the classic excursions and guided or independent trekking.

Calabria is a place where past and present have always coexisted, in a relationship that has given rise to unique combinations of art and history. Surrounded by unique landscapes, the villages of Calabria preserve tradition, authenticity, architecture, hidden treasures and countless gastronomic delights. Every season is a good one for discovering the beauties of the villages. There are six thermal springs in Calabria, located in some of the most beautiful unspoiled places in the region. Some of these are freely accessible, as the sulphurous and beneficial waters create natural pools that can be used by everyone, all year round, such as the thermal baths in Sambiasi in Lamezia Terme, and the Bagni di Bivongi. In Calabria you will find a wide choice of luxury campsites and alternative overnight stays, by the sea and in the mountains, from the north to the south of the region. If you love traditions linked to good food and ancient crafts, don't miss the Calabrian festivals - which make every season a delight to be savoured with all the senses - and the typical craft fairs. Among the great festivals that invite you to Calabria all year round are the Peperoncino Jazz Festival (summer and touring), the literary festival Leggere&Scrivere (October, Vibo Valentia), the Magna Graecia Film Festival (July-August, Catanzaro).

Discover the Capital Cities, with their museums and local specialities, the 15 Most Beautiful Villages in Italy (Orange Flag) and the 9 UNESCO World Heritage Sites (tangible and intangible). Discover a land rich in history and beauty!

Sicily

Sicily

Sicily, Italian Sicilia, island, southern Italy, the largest and one of the most densely populated islands in the Mediterranean Sea. Together with the Egadi, Lipari, Pelagie, and Pantelleria islands, Sicily forms an autonomous region of Italy. Sicily is one of the world's richest regions of great civilization, cultures and natural beauty: from the wonder and the enchantment of Palermo, city riches of art and architecture; through the archaeological ruins of the Greek domination narrated by Goethe in his work "Journey to Sicily", such as: Agrigento, Selinunte, Segesta and so on; through the splendour and magnificence of Syracuse, the most powerful among the Hellenic villages in Sicily.

Discover the seductive beauty of charming Taormina, the impressive national park of Mountain Etna, the highest active volcano in Europe. Etna Volcano is one of the world's most active volcanoes and the most active one in Europe. It has been erupting for several million years. Mt Etna is one of the greatest and most beautiful volcano adventure tour destinations in Sicily.

The most popular resorts of the island are Taormina, Syracuse, Messina, Chifalu, Letojanni, Santa Flavia, Giardini Naxos, Agrigento. Taormina is a prestigious resort, it's the cultural capital of Sicily.

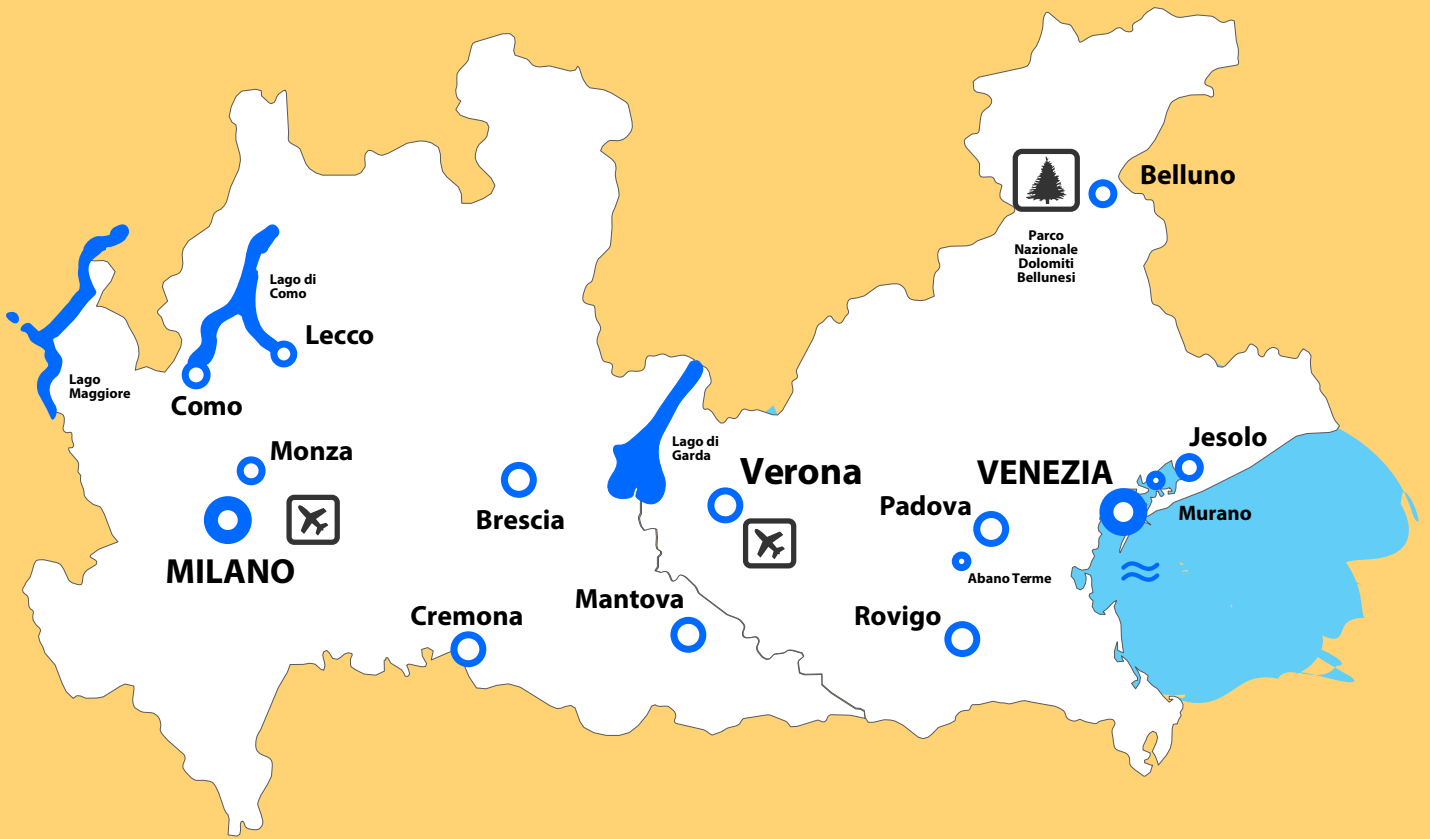

Syracuse in the southern part of the Island - enjoy a very special introduction to the Sicilian coastline en-route. More than any other modern city in Sicily, Syracuse manifests a visible continuity from its ancient Greek past, both historical and mythological.

In Messina you will discover the Cathedral that houses the largest polyphonic organ in Europe, a medieval treasure and the most complex mechanical astronomical clock in the world. You will admire artistic fountains that tell the mythological tales of Scylla and Charybdis and your eyes will boggle at the largest port in the Mediterranean, touching the sea of the Strait. You will sample the tastiest swordfish here.

Palermo, the capital of the island, lies on Sicily's northwestern coast at the head of the Bay of Palermo, it's rich in monuments of various historical epochs (the church of St. John the Hermit, the Norman Castle, and the famous Teatro Massimo).

Sicily is a wonderful destination, blessed with beautiful archaeological sites, stunning cities, beautiful sea and some of the best food in Italy. Enjoy our special mystery tours designed for lovers of food and wine and all that it represents: the charming medieval villages, its centuries old traditions, its people and their ways of life!

ITALIAN LAKES

Garda Lake

Lake Garda, Italian Lago di Garda, also called Benaco, the largest of the Italian lakes (bordering Lombardy, Veneto and Trentino-Alto Adige) is a popular holiday destination in the northern part of the country.

The region around the lake experiences a mild climate which favors the growth of several plants and vegetation, including olive trees, palm trees, and magnolias. Lake Garda and the surrounding area hosts a variety of sports, including mountain biking, swimming, wind-surfing, and sailing. The lake shares its name with Garda Town in Veneto Province. Lake Garda is located halfway between Verona and Brescia, and Milan and Venice. It is Lombardy's easternmost lake of the four major lakes, namely (from west to east) Maggiore, Como, Iseo, and Garda.

Villages and towns on the shores of Lake Garda include Riva del Garda, Arco, Sirmione, Tremosine, and Bardolino. The lake is approximately one hour drive from Milan.

Garda's economy is based on tourism. One of the first tourist resorts was Gardone Riviera, where the first small hotel was built. The better way to fully enjoy the landscapes and colors of Lake Garda is to cross it by boat. Jump aboard a boat, relax and reach your favourite destination: Bardolino, Sirmione, Riva del Garda, Malcesine or another town. If you're travelling with your children, you can visit Gardaland and the other amusement parks, which are a stone's throw from Lake Garda! Let yourself be enchanted by the magical atmosphere of Aquaria Thermal Spa of Sirmione, a centre of relaxation and care immersed in a natural paradise. Park your car outside the walls and enjoy a charming walk through the town center of Sirmione, up to the Grottoes on the northeastern coast of the Peninsula!

Lake Garda offers many attractions, both from the historical-cultural point of view and from the sporting one, but also from that of relaxation.

Como Lake

Lake Como, Italian Lago di Como, also called Lario, Latin Lacus Larius, lake in Lombardy, northern Italy, 40 km north of Milan; it lies at an elevation of 199 m in a depression surrounded by limestone and granite mountains that reach an elevation of about 600 m in the south and more than 2,400 m in the northeast. Lake Como has three branches of approximately equal length (about 26 km). It is the third largest of the Italian lakes (after Lake Garda and Lake Maggiore and it one of the deepest lakes in Europe. Located at the foot of the Alps, Lake Como provides one of the most picturesque sceneries in the world. If you're going to visit the Italian lakes, you'll be surprised to learn about the many things to do in Lake Como.

The lake is famous for the natural beauty of its setting and for the handsome villas on its shores. Among the many noted lakeside resorts are Como, Lecco, Bellagio, Tremezzo, Menaggio, and Varenna. Several towns are connected by steamer services. Boat trips and tours are something that we definitely recommend to anyone who wants to experience Lake Como at its best.

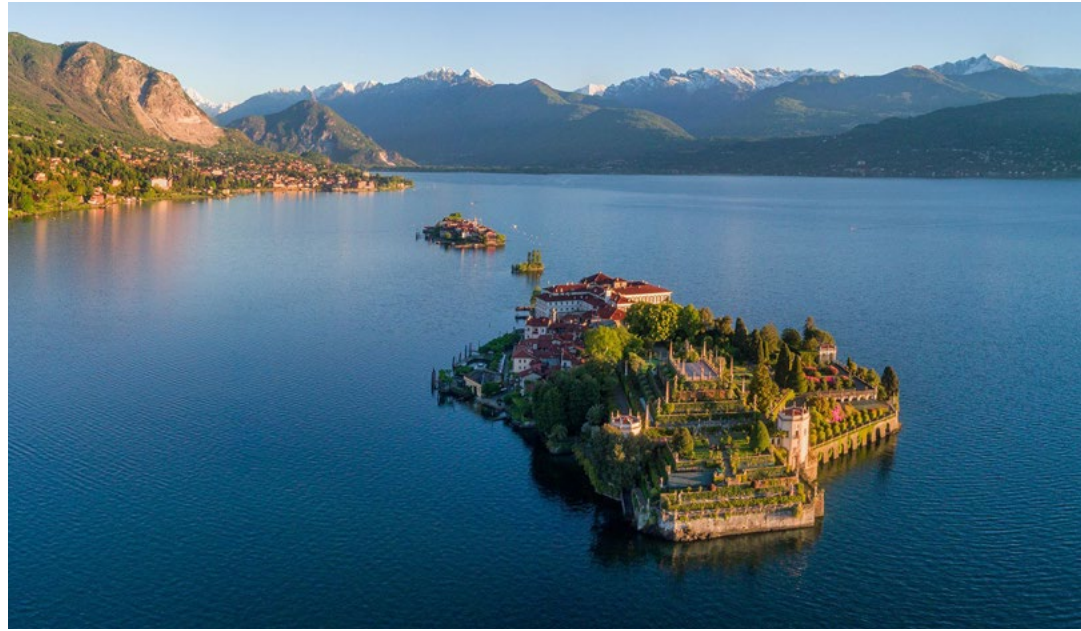

Beaches in Lake Como are the perfect place to relax during the hot summer days, and in some cases they also give you the opportunity to go sailing or windsurfing. The villas in Lake Como are some of the most beautiful destinations in all of Italy. Staying in a private villa will give you the opportunity to feel at home away from home, with all the amenities you need to experience a top-notch vacation.

Each villa has its own unique charm and atmosphere. Some of them – like Villa d'Este – have become luxury hotels, while others provide exceptional activities for the whole family to enjoy.

Most Lake Como's villas are located outside Como city and in some cases they're only surrounded by nature and magnificent garden - a must - see if you are planning your holidays on Lake Como. The landscapes of Lake Como offer the ideal setting for a romantic vacation for couples; this area is in fact a beloved stop on honeymoons of newlyweds from all over the world. Here, among historical stores and typical restaurants, there are charming boutique hotels that will make your stay on Lake Como really special (elegant accommodations and villages with a unique charm, full of corners and views to admire). It's a land of tradition and innovation: from the ancient Trattoria to Michelin Star chef. Fantastic walking tours and excursions organized by expert local guides will take you to discover some hidden corners of Lake Como. Lake Como is a destination with a pure beauty, a marvelous nature and breath-taking views, from where you can walk, relax, discover the peace and enjoy the calm of an holiday.

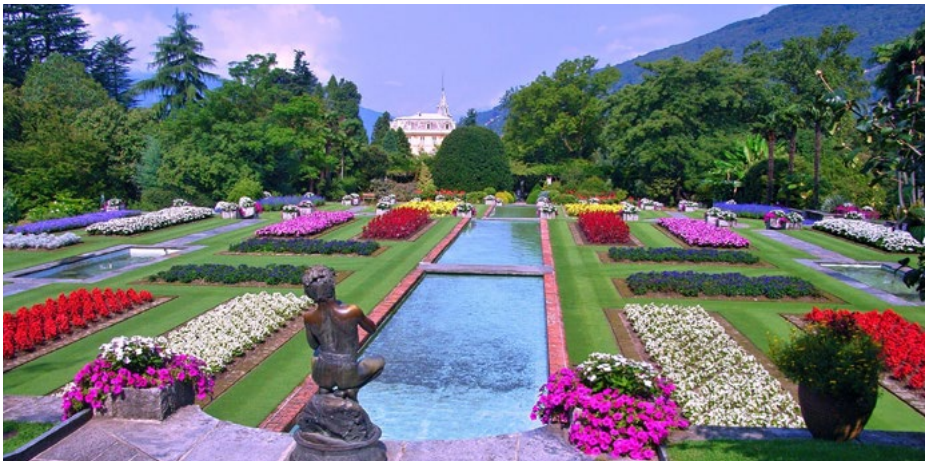

Maggiore Lake

Maggiore Lake, Italian Lago Maggiore, Latin Lacus Verbanus, second largest lake in Italy, is bisected by the border between Lombardy and Piedmont. Its northern end is in the Swiss Ticino canton.

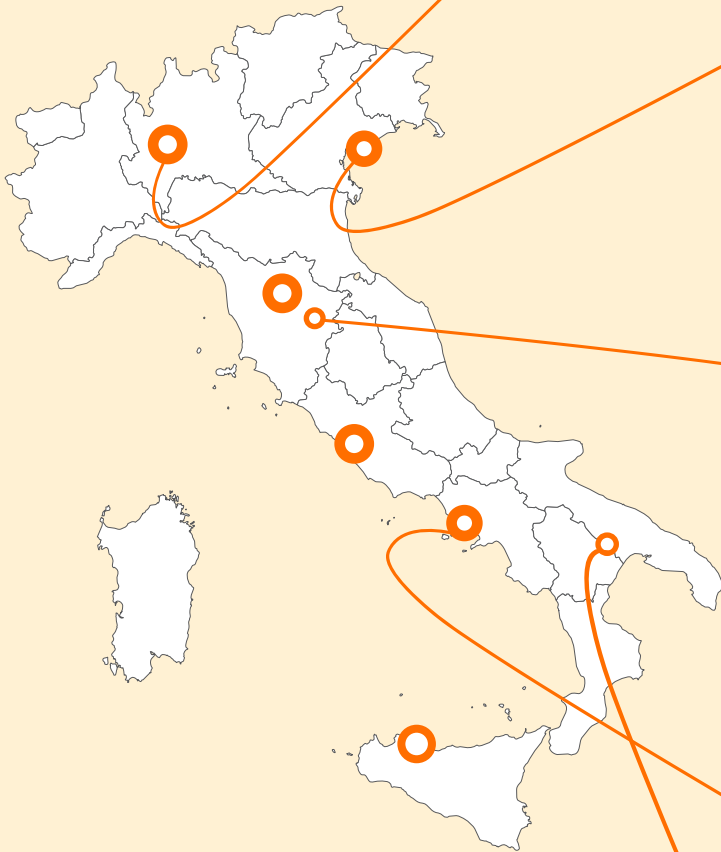

The lake's name, meaning "greater," refers to its being considerably larger than the neighbouring Orta and Varese lakes. Over 40 towns and villages surround the lake between Italy and Switzerland. Well-known lakeside resorts on the western shore are Stresa, Verbania, Arona, and Cannobio. Belle époque villas, noble parks and fluttering sails all make this lake feel like more like a town on the Riviera. The lake is large and has plenty to offer. A trip to the Borromean Islands is an absolute must.

The smallest, Isola Pescatori, is a quaint village of cobblestone streets and a circular promenade. The tiny fishing village is known for its restaurants and cafes. Each of the three islands has its own unique charm. The largest, Isola Madre, is best known for its botanical gardens. The mild continental climate here suits such exotic species as palms, jasmine and lemon trees. The balmy weather makes it easy to forget you're only a stone's throw from the Alps.

The lush vegetation attracts a great many visitors to Maggiore Lake. Here we have the ideal combination of mild climate and fertile soils. Most visitors, of course, come here to enjoy the water. Aside from the innumerable motor boat tours, it's also possible to charter your very own sailing boat. In the hands of an experienced skipper, this is the best way to see the lake. The lake's shores are dotted with small villages, lakeside promenades, noble villas and ancient hermitages. Near the shoreline, you can find nature trails to explore by foot, mountain bike or horseback.

MovieTour (example): "In the footsteps of Federico Fellini"

Thematic journey to places that inspired Federico Fellini - the great and legendary Italian filmmaker, winner of four Oscars for Best a foreign film and one Oscar for achievements in career (Italian film director who was one of the most celebrated and singular filmmakers of the period after World War II.

Influenced early in his career by the neorealist movement, he developed his own distinctive methods that superimposed dreamlike or hallucinatory imagery upon ordinary situations. He added vastly to the vocabulary of the cinema and pioneered a personal style of filmmaking now integral to its practice)

The tour will start from the places where the most important films were shot, then to get acquainted with the places where Fellini matured, and who inspired him.

Rome and Rimini are the two poles of this narrative, but traveling between them, you will discover many other important and beautiful places in Italy that have fascinated and attracted the great director.

Rome

A relationship between a director and a city is been rarely so strong and has produced a symbiosis like the one between Fellini and Rome. Many points of the city appear in the filming, under different angles and with different meanings, night and day, only fleetingly or as the real heroes of the scene itself.

- Walking with a guide to the places where Fellini shot the film
- Visit to the Fellini Gallery at the "Canova" Bar in Piazza del Popolo
- Thematic visit to "Cinecittà Studios"

Province of Rome

- Excursion in the locations of Fellini's films on the Roman coast: Ostia, Fiumicino, Anzio.

- Viterbo, Bagnoregio and Civita di Bagnoregio, Bassano Romano, Capranica.

Bologna

- Visit to the National Cinematography Libraries of Rimini and the Romagna region
- Fellini lived in Rimini from January 1920, when he was born, before January 1939, when he left for Rome.

Although he never shot films in his hometown, he has often recounted in many of his films, not just in Amarcord, those nineteen years, constructing a sort of itinerary made up of real and reinvented places.

As for Fellini's route to Rimini, we will base to the project of the new Fellini Museum in Rimini.

FILM EXCURSIONS (walking tours in the footsteps of the cinema)

SPA RESORTS & THERMAL

Abano Terme

Thermal spa

Abano Terme is a popular balneological resort in Italy, 8 km from Padua and it's considered one of the famous thermal resort not only in Italy, but also in all Europe. The city is relatively small, with an area of 21.5 km², the population is just under 20,000 people. The resort is located in the Veneto region, in the valley of the Euganean Hills.

Location

The nearest airports are:

- Venice – Airport Marco Polo (60 km)
- Bologna – Airport G. Marconi (111 km)
- Verona – Airport Valerio Gatullo (104 km)
- Treviso – Airport Antonio Canova (65 km)
- Milan – Airport Linate (242 km), Malpensa (285 km)
- Bergamo – Airport Orio Al Serio (202 km)

The ideal location allows to enjoy not only a health-improving holiday, but also visit such famous cities as Padua, Verona, Vicenza, Treviso and Venice. Abano Terme is famous worldwide as the “Thermal Baths of Venice”, thanks to the extraordinary curative qualities of the thermal water and the bio-thermal clay or aged mud: a true medicine without side effects.

The main value and attraction of Abano Terme is the hot thermal springs, where the temperature of the water reaches 87 °C and it includes radon, sodium sulphides, iodine and bromine.

Every hotel has its own spa centre, complete with thermal spring, thermal pools, saunas, mud-bath therapy suite complete with medical assistance, massage physiotherapy suite and beauty centre. The Euganean Basin hot springs are ancient waters that flow at a temperature of approximately 87°C after a decade long underground voyage from the Lessini Mountains (the Prealps). During the course of this journey at a 2000-3000 metre depth, the water becomes enriched with minerals; its composition makes it a precious thermal resource of exceptional therapeutic value.

The richness of their spas is due to the waters, that belong to the category of deep underground waters and are chemically classified as saline-bromine-iodine thermal water with a fixed residue at 180° C of 5-6 grams of salt per litre.

All hotels have at least one doctor on duty in the thermal spa centre, who is available to evaluate your general state of health and to suggest a treatment plan on a case-by-case basis. The doctor provides therapists with precise instructions on the number of sessions, duration, temperatures, and notes on the treatments, for maximum safety and results.

The thermal water pools are maintained at a constant temperature between 34/35°C throughout the year. The water emerging from the thermal spring is cooled before being used in the pools! Each hotel has at least two thermal water pools, one indoors and one outdoors which in most cases are adjoining. This means you can immerse yourself in the indoor pool and swim out into the open air even in the coldest of months (not recommendable for those who suffer from neck pain).

The main indications for treatment in Abano Terme resort are diseases of the respiratory system and musculoskeletal apparatus, gynecological problems and neurological disorders. The main specialization of the Abano Terme resort is the treatment of the musculoskeletal system and the respiratory system diseases. A stay at a thermal spa is a suitable environment for rehabilitation, be it for post-surgery outcomes, trauma /accident, or postural re-education. Rehabilitation in thermal water alleviates pain symptoms, accelerates the rehabilitative process and promotes muscle recovery. It can be aided by instrumental analgesic physiotherapy, decontracting and reactivating massage therapy.

Local natural healing factors, iodine-bromine thermal mineral water and healing mud, are unique in Europe, they have anti-inflammatory and regenerative effects on the body.

Abano Terme is the perfect destination for a rejuvenating wellness holiday.

Castles, Venetian villas, abbeys, medieval hamlets... you'll find a number of ideas to spend pleasant hours plunged into history, surrounded by suggestive atmosphere.

We recommend you the unmissable places to stopover during your holiday at the terme, striking itineraries among history, nature, wine and food, and wonderful art cities at a short distance from Abano and Montegrotto Terme.

The water has been used in Italy since as early as the 14th century and is famous for its natural healing properties. In Europe it is classified as an Oligomineral water, and has been proven to contain certain components of the "humic substance" group which, it is claimed, gives the water its health benefits. The hydropinic therapy with Acqua Fiuggi, accredited by the National Health Service, is excellent for the treatment of urinary tract stones and its relapses.

The water acts as an effective remedy for infections of the urinary tract, and helps the metabolism to rid itself of uric acid, acting as a treatment for gout and uric acid arthropathy. It has been scientifically proven that Fiuggi water has beneficial effects in various ways: it helps to dissolve and flush out kidney stones, and prevents their formation; it is recommended for preparing patients about to undergo operations or lithotripsy with shockwave therapy, and is useful during the postoperative recovery period. Other than treatment for kidney stones, Fiuggi water provides an important therapy for urinary tract infections.

It also boosts the metabolism and helps it to expel uric acid, providing a treatment for gout and uric acid arthropathy. Treatment with Fiuggi water should be done twice a year and each treatment cycle lasts about 12-15 days, the time necessary for correctly activating the water-saline metabolism.

There are two water springs in Fiuggi: the Fonte Bonifacio VIII is the most famous one, it was originally built in the 1950s and The Fonte Anticolanais instead completely immersed in nature offering visitors the possibility to fully relax while listening to birds twitting. Both structures are open to the public, and their services can be booked online or in person.

Fiuggi, in addition to being rich in historical, artistic and religious testimonies, is surrounded by dense vegetation and offers a natural hilly and mountain environment that is extremely interesting for road and mountain bike excursions.

At Fiuggi, guests can use their free time to relax and disconnect from the stresses of the outside world by strolling through the parkland and cured gardens.

Alternatively, there are opportunities to explore the wider region – either on foot, by bike or car. Natural and historical delights abound, while visits to areas of international significance – like Naples and Pompei – are warmly encouraged. Just a 50-minute drive from Palazzo Fiuggi lies Rome, the eternal city, one of the most historical and significant cities in the world.

Golf lovers can easily reach the “Fiuggi Golf Club”, the golf course that offers a splendid 18-hole course at 621 meters high and is surrounded by a beautiful natural park. The project was developed to high eco-sustainability standards. An exclusive club house makes the perfect start and finish to every round.

There are plenty of sights to see within an hour’s radius of Fiuggi. Explore the heritage of the historical city of Anagni (city of the popes), the cyclopic walls of Alatri, the ancient abbey of Casamari, Sirmonetta, Terracina, Gaeta, Caserta and the ‘five castles: Trevigliano, Torre Caietani, Fumone (the castle with the highest hanging garden in Europe)Trevi and Trisulti.

The easiest way to reach Fiuggi is to drive there. If you want to get there by public transportation, take the Roma-Napoli regional train from Rome Termini, stop at Anagni-Fiuggi; at the Anagni-Fiuggi train station, take a COTRAL bus for Fiuggi, or a Trenitalia bus for Anagni Città.
